Duration: 20 minutes

Categories: Engagement & Participative projects, Governance

Subcategories: Project management, Debate

For this tool, we'll remix the groups. This time, each group will be given a matrix on which they will have to base themselves to set out the challenges faced by the associative sector.

Matrix

Scope	Challenges	Possible solutions
Politics
Economic
Socio-cultural Technological Environmental Intergenerational

6 areas will be proposed in which they must locate some of the challenges currently faced by the associative sector. Participants must write in the matrix those challenges that they consider important for each area and generate a list of ideas that can provide a solution to these challenges or direct them towards it. The contributions of each group will be shared.

Axes to be analyzed: going through the groups, the leaders will be able to observe how the difference in experience, role or age can be reflected in the dialogues that are formed. Each participant will be able to detect different challenges and will enrich the vision of the rest with respect to the associative sector to which they belong. In addition, this tool will be able to test the analytical capacity and the degree of knowledge about the associative sector and its challenges, as well as the capacity for proposals and creativity of the participants.

Materials: Photocopies of the matrix will be needed for each group and pens.
